VOLUME 63—

ELBA, ALABAMA, THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1961

Technical Training Urged as Greatest South Alabama Need

South Alabama is due for a growth in the next 10 or 15 years comparable with the growth of the Tennessee valley during the last 10 or 15 years, Philip J. Hamm, director of the George C. Wallace Vocational and Technical School, Napier Field, told the Elba Rotary Club Monday.

Mr. Hamm gave two reasons for the growth of the Tennessee valley: 1. cheap power generated by the river; 2. technical know-how. He said that South Alabama is going ahead with river development and will get the cheap power. "But we still lack the technical know-how," he said.

Lacks One Thing
As a state official whose job it was to encourage new industry to come to Alabama, he found that "South Alabama has everything in its favor except one. It has a favorable climate, water resources, and is near to the Gulf beaches, and areas providing hunting and fishing for recreation of employees in industrial plants. But it lacks skilled personnel."

"We are living in a technical age. The minimum wage law has made it prohibitive for an industry to train workers. They must know the principles of the job before they go to work, and if they know the principles, it won't be difficult to learn the details."

The Best Investment
"A few years ago a young legislator named George C. Wallace almost single-handedly fought for, and obtained, legislative action to set up technical schools in Alabama to provide industry with boys and girls with the technical know-how."

"Money spent in the training of our youth is the best investment we can make, and I want to urge everyone of you, business and professional men, to take time out from your daily occupations occasionally to talk to the boys and girls with whom you are acquainted, and use your influence to encourage them to gain technical training. And I can assure you that if any boy or girl lacks the financial means to come to George C. Wallace trade school and genuinely wants to come, that I will find a way to provide his tuition."

Many smaller companies still have openings for student workers, but the applicant will have to check the ones he wishes to work for. Most of these positions are for those interested in working for the company after graduation.

Local Jobs
Younger students probably will find their jobs in their own back yard, according to the article. In addition, local state employment service probably has set up a special counseling service to develop summer jobs for students, and business, organizations and individuals will also help. The editors of the magazine also suggest checking with local placement offices and local job sources to see whether national and international union headquarters have notified them of jobs available either in headquarters or the localities. Factories sometimes hire people to fill in for vacationing workers.

Federal Government
Here, too, the supply of applicants exceeds the need. However, the Civil Service Commission still regulates a number of summer jobs through its student trainee and student assistant programs. In order to qualify for a trainee job, a student must pass a Civil Service test. For a comprehensive picture of jobs available under Civil Service, the editors advise sending 15 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C. for a copy of Pamphlet 45, Summer Employment in Federal Agencies.

Summer Camps
Jobs are available here, and information is available from a number of sources. Minimum hiring age is usually 16, and jobs start with beginner counselors and go up to specialty counselor and staff positions. The American Camping Association works through state employment services, and an applicant can write to the organization for a list of Camp Staff Placement Services, or if he or she already has a job, he can write to the camps directly. The 1961 Directory of Accredited Camps is available from the American Camping Association.

CEMETERY WORKING
All interested in the cemetery can write to the Elba Cemetery Association or New Chapel. are invited to come each Saturday before the third Sunday in May, and each Saturday before the 4th Sunday in April has been set aside to clean the building and yards.

Tommy Vaughan Is Named Legislator
A sophomore at the U. of A. from Elba was recently elected to represent some 2,000 students in the student legislature.

Tommy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom B. Vaughan, will return to the Capitol campus next fall to serve as a legislator from the largest college at the U. of A., the College of Arts and Sciences.

He has already completed an outstanding record in the four semesters he has been at the university. He is a member of the freshman scholar's honor society, Phi Eta Sigma; was named Outstanding Freshman for 1959-60; is secretary of the Interfraternity Council; named one of five scholastics for the Honor Program recently initiated in the College of Arts and Sciences.

LEGION Chooses Representatives . . .

H. Clark of Elba, extreme right, front row, was chosen Girls State Representative over Tulah Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Davis of Route 3, Elba, front row, left, and Jeanette Grantham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. ### Elba High Seniors Are Honored At Dinner Party

The Senior Class of Elba High School was honored on Thursday evening, last week, with a dinner party given in the high school gymnasium.

Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Winston, Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Warr, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Bryan, Mrs. Robbie Russell, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Twilley, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Inman, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold English.

Small tables were set up to seat the guests. Each table held a hurricane lamp carrying out the class colors, pink and white. Miniature diplomas with narrow pink and white ribbons marked the place of each guest.

The clever riddles on the diplomas were read and furnished much entertainment. The delicious and sumptuous dinner was served from a table overlaid with a snow-white cloth caught at the corners with bows of pink ribbon and dainty pink flowers. Glided pink letters spelling out "Seniors of '61" were placed on the side front of the table cloth. An artistic arrangement of flowers and candles further emphasized the color theme. The completed table decorations.

A number of games and contests were directed by Mrs. Winston and Mr. Inman.

What is home? A blend of memories and mortar... walls and roof and smells of breakfast cooking... a place of rest at the end of day... a feeling of possession, of belonging... a place of hate, love, anger... the center of things living.

Home may be a mansion on a hill, a cramped apartment, a farmhouse, a hotel, a new suburban split-level, the house Father built... but only to you and your family is it home. No one else may call it that. For home is a part of you!

Centuries ago a shepherd-pastor felt this. Weary, lonely seasons on the grazing slopes had taught him to love... to long for... HOME.

But he realized that, through this life and beyond, the nearness of God is part of the sense of home. Goodness and mercy would follow him all the days of his life. And he would dwell in the house of the Lord forever!

Give the Church and its Truth a place in your home. And God's presence will give eternal meaning to that home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a source of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend service regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
